Dear Mr. Weisberg:

Thanks for your note of March 29th. I saw you on the John Bandy show a few weeks ago and it certainly was a lively program.

I can't afford $91 for the two parts of Post Mortem so I guess I'll wait until they come out in regular book form.

Attached is an item from the National Tattler hardly an authoritative paper, but I thought you might not have seen this about Sirhan's father.

You mentioned "pre requisites" in your letter. Can you let me know what you mean? I assume this is about the xeroxing of Post Mortem.

Sincerely,
Priscilla Russo
